CCS Publishing (Library of the National Medical Society)

The screenshot shows the homepage of the CCS Publishing Library. At the top, there is a dark green header with the National Medical Society logo on the left, the word "LIBRARY" in large yellow letters in the center, and "OF THE NATIONAL MEDICAL SOCIETY" and "An Online Medical Reference Library" in smaller white text on the right. Below the header, a light green sidebar on the left contains a list of navigation links: "The Internet's Best Resource for Accurate Medical Information*", "Online Diagnosis", "Library", "Search the Library", "Reader Services", "Request Articles by email", "About the Library", "Notices", "CCS Books", "Register", and "Log-in". The main content area is white and features a search bar with a "search" button. Below the search bar, there are several sections of text, each with a blue underlined heading: "Search the Medical Library and Previous Issues", "Online Diagnosis - Accurate online medical diagnosis of symptoms, illnesses, diseases, and psychiatric disorders. Helen T. Rosenthal, MD; Sarah J. Thompson, MD; David Mann, MD; Joanne F. Masterson, MD", "Medical Treatment Advisor - Find the best and most current treatment based on individual patient characteristics. Sylvia F. Thompson, MD; Eric G. Smith, MD, Judith M. Harper, MD; John C. Edwards, MD", "Color Textbooks and Photographic Book of Skin Diseases", "Medical Journals and Full Text Medical Book Library", "Physicians' Drug Resource - Drug dosages and drug information online.", "Journal of Pediatrics and Adolescent Medicine - Rebecca M. WebMD

The screenshot shows the WebMD Health website interface. At the top, there are advertisements for CVS/pharmacy and Zoloft (sertraline HCl). The main header features the WebMD Health logo, navigation links for MyWebMD, Log In, Profile, and MyHealthRecord, and a search bar. A sidebar on the left lists categories like Medical Info and Health and Wellness. The main content area includes a 'Looking for Medical Information?' section, 'Fresh Picks' with a live event announcement, and 'Our Ongoing Coverage National Tragedy' section. At the bottom, there are three interactive boxes for 'Stay healthy', 'Newly diagnosed?', and 'Living with illness?'.

- Wide Range of Health/Medical Information
- Seems to be patient-oriented information; not much depth
- Some areas require Registration (free)
- <http://my.webmd.com/index>

Online Journals

- Most popular (and some unpopular) journals now at least have a website
- Some journals offer full text searching of current (and past) issues
- Most are subscription based – subscribers of the print version can access the website

Medline

The screenshot shows the PubMed website interface. At the top left is the NCBI logo. In the center is the PubMed logo, and on the right is the National Library of Medicine (NLM) logo. Below the logos is a navigation bar with tabs for PubMed, Nucleotide, Protein, Genome, Structure, and PopSet. A search bar is located below the navigation bar, with a dropdown menu set to 'PubMed' and a search button labeled 'Go'. Below the search bar are several options: Limits, Preview/Index, History, Clipboard, and Details. On the left side, there is a vertical menu with links for 'About Entrez', 'Entrez PubMed' (Overview, Help | FAQ, Tutorial, New/Noteworthy), 'PubMed Services' (Journal Browser, MeSH Browser, Single Citation Matcher, Batch Citation Matcher, Clinical Queries, Cubby), and 'Related Resources' (Order Documents, NLM Gateway, Consumer Health, Clinical Alerts, ClinicalTrials.gov, PubMed Central). In the main content area, there are three sections: a list of search instructions, a description of PubMed, and two promotional boxes for 'Explore beyond PubMed' and 'Free Full-text Articles'.

- Enter one or more search terms, or click Preview/Index for advanced searching.
- Enter author names as smith jc. Initials are optional.
- Enter journal titles in full or as MEDLINE abbreviations. Use the Journal Browser to find journal titles.

PubMed, a service of the National Library of Medicine, provides access to over 11 million MEDLINE citations back to the mid-1960's and additional life science journals. PubMed includes links to many sites providing full text articles and other related resources.

American Academy of Family Physicians

The screenshot shows the homepage of the American Academy of Family Physicians (AAFP). The header features the AAFP logo and the text "American Academy of Family Physicians" and "TODAY'S FAMILY PHYSICIAN - SPECIALIZING IN ALL OF YOU." A search bar is located below the header. The main content area is divided into several sections:

- ONLINE RESOURCES: A vertical menu on the left with links to Family Practice, Clinical Information, CME, Practice Management, About the AAFP, Products & Services, Publications, and Career Opportunities.
- September 23, 2001: The date of the page.
- SPECIAL BULLETIN: A section titled "The tragic events of September 11th have touched all Americans, and family physicians are being called on to care for and counsel patients in unprecedented ways. The AAFP has pulled together some resources to help you as you help your patients." with a "More Information..." link.
- DAILY QUESTION: A section with a question: "True or false: A cough is a common symptom of group A beta-hemolytic streptococcal pharyngitis." and a "Select Answer..." link.
- PRACTICE PEARL: A section with a question: "Propranolol (Inderal), metoprolol (Lopressor) and labetalol (Normodyne) are excreted in small quantities and are compatible with breast-feeding even compromised infants." and a "View Source..." link.
- GROUP GATEWAYS: A section on the right with links to Assembly Attendees, Members, Patients, Residents, and Students.

New England Journal of Medicine

The screenshot shows the homepage of the New England Journal of Medicine. At the top, there is a banner advertisement for pediatric asthma patients, asking "What do you want for your pediatric asthma patients?" and promoting "Nebulized Delivery" with a "click here" button. Below the banner is the journal's logo and the title "The New England Journal of Medicine". A navigation bar includes links for HOME, SEARCH, CURRENT ISSUE, PAST ISSUES, COLLECTIONS, and HELP. The main content area is divided into three columns. The left column contains a "Current Issue" section with links to Table of Contents, Editors' Summaries, and Weekly Briefings, followed by a "For Subscribers" section with links to Sign in for Full Text, CiteTrack, Personal Archive, My Preferences, and Subscriber Services, and a "Services" section with links to Subscribe, Register, Institutional Access, Customer Services, and Article Reprint Service. The middle column features the "CURRENT ISSUE: September 20, 2001" and "SELECTED ARTICLES". The first article is "Renoprotective Effect of Irbesartan in Nephropathy Due to Type 2 Diabetes", which includes a diagram of the renin-angiotensin system and a text summary: "Blockade of angiotensin type 1 receptors slows the progression of nephropathy. This effect is independent of the reduction in blood pressure." The second article is "Effects of Losartan in Patients with Type 2 Diabetes and Nephropathy", with a text summary: "Angiotensin-receptor blockade may delay the onset of end-stage renal disease and ameliorate heart failure in patients with type 2 diabetes." The right column has an "EARLY RELEASE" section for "Lung-Volume Reduction Surgery" posted on August 14, 2001, and a "SEARCH" section with a search box and "GO" button, and a "COLLECTIONS" section with a "Subject" search box and "GO" button, and a "FEATURED IMAGES IN" section.

Introduction

MedCalc 3000 is the answer to your medical calculation needs. MedCalc 3000 comprises a variety of common equations, clinical criteria scores and decision trees used in medicine. MedCalc 3000 makes these formulas and score systems easy to use!

Here you will also find a very handy Quick Converter module to convert values from one unit to another, as well as a general Math Calculator. To use an equation, calculator, tree or the Quick Converter, simply click your selection on the left. The MedCalc Connect facility allows you to integrate your patient data into the equation system automatically. Click on the MedCalc Connect! link to learn more.

PLEASE NOTE: To use MedCalc 3000 you must have a JavaScript enabled, frames capable browser.

Many of the MedCalc 3000 formulæ are also available in iMode for use on iMode compatible portable phones. The iMode section can be sampled here or use your phone to connect to <http://calc.med.edu/imode>

The MedCalc 3000 system is frequently updated with new equations and clinical criteria sets. The current version you see here was built Thu Sep 13 16:49:06 2001.
